Delirium: asistencia clínica: 1 (Spanish Edition) José Carlos Mingote Adán

El delirium o síndrome confusional es un trastorno médico que implica la alteración global del estado mental y que se caracteriza por la perturbación de la consciencia, de las funciones cognitivas (percepción, orientación, lenguaje y memoria) y de la conducta del enfermo. En este protocolo se reseña lo que se considera esencial para el reconocimiento del síndrome confusional. Se presenta también un estudio realizado en el Hospital 12 de Octubre sobre la utilidad de un instrumento de filtro diagnóstico con la intención de que sea útil como instrumento sencillo y aplicable a pie de cama por facultativos no psiquiatras y personal de enfermería.
